Identity theft is a serious crime that occurs when someone uses your name, social security number, credit card number or other identifying information without your permission to commit fraud or other crimes. Every year millions of consumers fall victim to identify (ID) theft crimes and businesses expose millions more due to data breaches of confidential consumer and employee information. As a result, ID theft is costing consumers and businesses billions of dollars each year and is taking a severe emotional toll as well.

With Family-IDprotect, it is not an “Assisted recovery” program! Our recovery Advocates are standing by to restore your customer’s good name all the way back to “pre-identity theft” status, and then monitor it for another 12 months from that point. FamilyIDprotect provides up to $5,000 recovery expense reimbursement and fraud alerts from the three credit bureaus. Family-IDprotect provides identity theft recovery product to some of the largest financial institutions and retailers in the country.
